2016 LYNDA CARLBERG AWARD RECIPIENT Beth Vandersteen

Since 2008, Beth Vandersteen has served as director at West Baton Rouge Parish Library, but her contributions during her nearly 25 years in Rapides Parish are still remembered by those who worked with her.

Vandersteen worked to develop the Rapides Library's preschool outreach program that received a national Coming Up Taller Award presented by First Lady Laura Bush in 2005. It continues today visiting schools and offering resources for teachers and students.

Her dedication has shown while in Baton Rouge as well. She doubled the number of librarians serving the public inside the West Baton Rouge Parish Library Branch, launched a new website and added the position of Network Administrator to stay up to date on technology.

Vandersteen is past President of the LLA and has served on several of the association's committees.

C. C. Lockwood

Wildlife photographer C.C. Lockwood has lived and worked in fragile ecosystems whose preservation shapes his artistry.

Through words and images, he has captured the unique sense of space in wild places as diverse as Louisiana swampland and the rugged back country of the American West. His work has earned him international acclaim as an environmental artist, including the Sierra Club's Ansel Adams Award for conservation photography. Lockwood's work continues to reflect changes and perils in the natural world. His eleventh book, Marsh Mission, is part of a years-long effort by Lockwood to bring attention to the crisis of vanishing Gulf Coast wetlands.

His newest book, Louisiana Wild, The Lands Protected and Restored by The Nature Conservancy, portrays the good work this organization is doing on over 280,000 acres of land in our state.

Future projects include books on sunsets, beaches, and dogs. He is also working on a sustainable agriculture project.

He will soon produce a digital book on birds for handheld media machines. Most recently C.C.'s iconic image, "Flat Lake Sunset," has been chosen by the USPS to be the official bicentennial stamp.

"Photography is my excuse for venturing into the wild, my eyes, my brain, my soul seek the scene more than my camera." - C.C. Lockwood

C.C. Lockwood was born in Kansas City, Missouri, in the late 1940's and grew up in Fort Smith, Arkansas, where he graduated from Southside High School.

He moved to Louisiana in 1967 to attend Louisiana State University, where he received his B.S. in Finance in 1971. During his early years in Louisiana, he fell in love with the state's swampy backcountry, and he abandoned plans for a career in business as soon as he graduated. He taught himself photography and headed for wild places, determined to make a living capturing images of nature. Much of this time has been on a houseboat.

He has been married to Sue Richardson since 1996.
